2019 Holiday Gala

2019 has been filled with incredible activism and leadership. With so much at stake, we need to take the time to celebrate together. Join the Coordinating Council, staff, and volunteers of the Albuquerque Center for Peace and Justice, plus fellow community members for an evening of celebration as we look back on the incredible activism of the year and build resilience for continuing to build a world where our collective needs are met sustainably and nonviolently.

This year, youth mobilized to protect the planet and organized direct action throughout the state. Communities came together to support families migrating to their new homes, to defend each other from state violence, and to organize for workers’ rights. Leaders organized protests and rallies against fascism and war, built community gardens and healing spaces, and convened anti-racism workshops and teach-ins on the most pressing issues our communities are facing. Elders shared their wisdom, and some who paved the way transitioned from this world.

We have so much more work to do, and that’s why it’s important to celebrate and renew our commitment to the work and to each other.

The Peace & Justice Gala will take place Saturday, Dec. 7, 5-9pm at the Heights Community Center, 823 Buena Vista Dr. SE, on CNM Main Campus, with food, local music, local artists and healers, and dancing! Find more info and make a suggested donation of $20 at bit.ly/32JnSfJ. No one will be turned away for lack of funds. Donations of more than $20 will be gladly accepted, and will help make the Peace and Justice Center sustainable, including for the staff who make so much possible.

So, if you took action this year, or if you know someone who did, we'd love to see you there!

Send your submissions for monthly newsletter to monthlycalendar@abqpeaceandjustice.org by the 20th of the month prior to your event. Send submissions for web calendar to web@abqpeaceandjustice.org. Contact Coordinator at abqpeaceandjusticecenter@gmail.com.

In Conversation at the Lensic

Join Noura Erakat in conversation with Janine Jackson regarding the Palestinian struggle for freedom, Wednesday, Dec. 4, 7pm at Lensic Performing Arts Center, 211 W. San Francisco St. in Santa Fe. Tickets $8/$5 students & seniors, via lensic.org/events/noura-erakat

Noura Erakat is a human rights attorney and assistant professor at Rutgers University. She has served as legal counsel to the U.S. House of Representatives, as a legal advocate for Palestinian refugee rights at the United Nations, and as the national grassroots organizer and legal advocate at the U.S. Campaign to End the Israeli Occupation. She is the author of Justice for Some: Law and the Question of Palestine. Erakat's research interests include human rights and humanitarian, refugee, and national security law.

Janine Jackson is program director at FAIR, the media watch group, and producer/host of FAIR’s weekly radio show CounterSpin. Her work has appeared in Civil Rights since 1787, Stop the Next War Now: Effective Responses to Violence and Terrorism, Will the Last Reporter Please Turn Out the Lights: The Collapse of Journalism and What Can Be Done to Fix It, and other publications. Jackson also serves on the board of the African American Policy Forum. She is a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College and earned an MA in sociology from the Graduate Faculty at the New School for Social Research.

Homeless Persons’ Memorial Vigil

The annual Albuquerque Homeless Persons’ Candlelight Memorial Vigil mourns our community members who have passed on during the year—either while still facing life on the street or having experienced stable and permanent accommodation during the last part of their lives. The 2019 memorial vigil will take place on Friday, December 20. We will gather from 12:30pm at the Healthcare for the Homeless Memorial Tile Wall on 1st St. NW and Rosemont for a short ceremony followed by a silent march to The Rock at Noon-Day on 2nd St. NW and Prospect where the candlelight vigil and memorial will take place until 3:30pm.

For more information, call Fred Hernandez with NM Coalition to End Homelessness at (505)422-5175.

Join the Coordinating Council!

The Albuquerque Center for Peace and Justice is recruiting Coordinating Council members to help with governance, strategy, and ongoing support for the organization. 2019 has been a year of transition and change, and the CC has been steadily growing back to full capacity. We are looking for people who are active participants in movements for peace and justice in the Albuquerque, aligned with the vision of a Peace and Justice Center that is safe and welcoming for all, and willing to devote time and energy each month to making that vision a reality. Our commitment is also to anti-racist organizing, and new CC members will join a team that is developing skills and tools to address historical and ongoing harm through restorative justice practices. All who are interested, including youth, are welcome to join the December 19 CC meeting at the Peace and Justice Center, 202 Harvard SE, at 5:30pm.

For more info call 268-9557.

Thank you for being a member of the Peace and Justice Center community! It costs about $150/month to produce this newsletter, and we welcome donations that can support us to continue to produce it each month.

If you want to contribute, please visit abqpeaceandjustice.org to make a donation online, or mail or drop off a check at 202 Harvard SE.
Climate Concert Raises $500 for NM350.org Youth

The November 10\textsuperscript{th} Climate Concert held at our Peace & Justice Center was a great success. Well attended, it drew a wide audience who support climate striking youth. Delese Delios and Anni Hanna from NM350.org who work closely with climate youth activists say the group will use the $500 raised for t-shirts and banners.

People also came to hear the music of PAJOLA member Sheila Fox of Notable Healing, singer/songwriter Jacques Dorier and the shining stars of the evening - the NM Youth Jazz Collaborative who wowed the audience with their excellent arrangements of many standard jazz tunes. Under the direction of the warm and vivacious Phil Arnold, the front of the room was filled with the middle and high school musicians who played bass, drums, pianos, marimba, trombone, trumpet, clarinet, sax and flute. Wrapping up the evening was a collaboration between the Jazz Youth and Sheila Fox on the Klezmer/Yiddish folksong Baleboste, which means the capable woman who runs the house (perhaps the White House?), and Spirit Up, an original song, written by Sheila in 2016 after DT was elected. The audience joined in on the fun singing and clapping and noshing on the wonderful potluck of appetizers and beverages.

Stay tuned for more events from Notable Healing.

Project Fresh Start

Project Fresh Start is an organization created in response to House Bill 370 titled, “Criminal Record Expungement Act” which was passed during the 2018 legislative session and goes into effect January 1, 2020. Project Fresh Start will be made up of a network of volunteer attorneys who will assist individuals in navigating and applying for expungement.

Founder of the organization, Raphael Lobato, states, “The process of expunging one’s criminal record can be quite complex, and we do not think that’s a coincidence. Our organization aims to simplify the process for applicants. A criminal record makes it difficult to navigate through many aspects of life. No matter how educated a person becomes, their contributions to society, or how much time has lapsed, a systemic stigmatization perpetually follows an individual who has been charged with a crime. Barriers, also known as collateral consequences, are both legal and regulatory restrictions that restrict and limit people with criminal records from securing employment, housing, occupational licensing, educational opportunities and the ability to vote, amongst other opportunities and fundamental rights.”

If you are interested in having your record expunged, or if you are a lawyer who would like to volunteer some of your time, call Raphael at 718-8040 or email raphaellobato1@gmail.com.

Necessary Conversations White People Need to Have About Race

By Bryson Dean

Thanks to Monique Salhab's clear and honest article about the racism she has experienced at the ACP&J, it is important that we begin a Necessary Conversation about race. We will be meeting on the 3rd Friday of every month from 1-2:30pm at the Peace and Justice Center. We will start by discussing Ijeoma Oluo's book So You Want to Talk About Race. Please read the Introduction, Chapters 1 and 2 for the December meeting on the 3rd Friday from 1-2:30pm. If possible also view her talk to Google: youtube.com/watch?v=TnybJZRWipg. In the First Chapter she writes, “We are, each and every one of us, a collection of our lived experiences. Our lived experiences shape us, how we interact with the world, and how we live in the world. And our experiences are valid. Because we do not experience the world with only part of ourselves, we cannot leave our racial identity at the door. And so, if a person of color says that something is about race, it is--because regardless of the details, regardless of whether or not you can connect the dots from the outside, their racial identity is a part of them and it is interacting with the situation. Note, if you are a white person in this situation, do not think that just because you may not be aware of your racial identity at the time that you did not bring race to your experience as well. We are all products of a racialized society, and it affects everything we bring to our interactions.” (p.15)

We’re Hiring!
The Albuquerque Center for Peace and Justice is hiring! The Executive Director we're looking for will have a strong understanding of structural injustice and what it takes to transform systems, connections to social justice organizations and communities leading change in Albuquerque, and will have the experience and energy to strengthen the foundation of this hub of Albuquerque activism.

Does that sound like you or someone you know? Please consider applying, or spread the word to friends and family! You can find a full job description at https://bit.ly/32ZhamS. Deadline for applications to be received is Dec. 15, 2019

The Peace and Justice Center has been going through quite a bit of transition with the support of our part-time interim Co-Directors, who have supported us with skill and commitment. Now it's clear to the Coordinating Council that we need a full-time staff person to help make the mission and vision a reality in the long-term. This role requires clarity of purpose, experience with fund development and managing big change, ability to work both independently and collaboratively, and the energy to handle many responsibilities at once. The new Executive Director will be an important part of making the Peace and Justice Center sustainable and effective. This position also brings an opportunity to build on the legacy and work of past Coordinators, each of whom opened new fronts for activism and welcomed new communities into the space. It's important to find someone willing to continue to challenge racism internally and build relationships with youth, Black, Indigenous, and People of Color-led groups and organizations. There’s much more work to do, and we’re looking forward to seeing a new Executive Director who can help create the welcoming, powerful space our organizing communities need. Questions and applications (please include a resume and cover letter) can be sent to hiring@abqpeaceandjustice.org.
